

1. Print out the provided table and the images below (there are more than will fit on the table at one time).
  2. Laminate to protect their use over time
  3. Add one strip of velcro down the center of each side of the table and small pieces to the back of the cards.
  4. Use images and tables as you discuss the differences between fairytales and folktales
- *Laminate all material for longevity

Fairytales	Folktales

1. Print out the provided table and the images below (there are more than will fit on the table at one time).
2. Laminate to protect their use over time
3. Add one strip of velcro down the center of each side of the table and small pieces to the back of the cards.
4. Use images and tables as you discuss the differences between fairytales and folktales

*Laminate all material for longevity

\ Witches, evil queens, and magic (Fairytale)*

\ Originally passed down orally (Fairytale)*

\ Credited to an author (Fairytale)*

\ Castles and magical lands (Fairytale)*

\ Mythical creatures: Dragons (Fairytale)*

\ Mystical creatures: Fairies (Fairytale)*

1. Print out the provided table and the images below (there are more than will fit on the table at one time).
2. Laminate to protect their use over time
3. Add one strip of velcro down the center of each side of the table and small pieces to the back of the cards.
4. Use images and tables as you discuss the differences between fairytales and folktales

*Laminate all material for longevity

* Showcase human scenarios (Folktale)

* Originally passed down orally (Folktale)

* No accredited author (Folktale)

* Talking animals (Folktale)

* Talking animals (Folktale)

* You learn something: helping others (Folktale)

